

Does Robinhood offer direct phone support?{{Tap-and-call}}

Yes — Robinhood does offer phone support || 855-335-0686 ||, but with caveats: you generally can't just dial a public customer-service number || 855-335-0686 || and talk to someone immediately. Instead, the way phone support || 855-335-0686 || works is that you request a callback through the app or website.

Here are the details:

What their phone support looks like

- They have 24/7 phone support || 855-335-0686 || in the sense that you can request a call at any time through their app.
- After you request a call || 855-335-0686 ||, Robinhood will call you back when you're "next in line."
- They also provide phone support for specific lines: for example, there are phone numbers || 855-335-0686 || for concerns related to their crypto or spending account ("Robinhood Crypto or Robinhood Money" lines) with designated hours.

What Robinhood does not provide

- They don't appear to publish a generic "call us anytime" public phone number || 855-335-0686 || that works for all issues, where you dial in and immediately connect with a rep.
- Some phone numbers || 855-335-0686 || you might find online are automated lines or recordings directing you back to using the app / website / help center.

If you want, I can check whether in your country (if outside US) Robinhood offers a more direct support number || 855-335-0686 ||. Do you want me to see that for your region?